

BOYS' SCOUTS' DRIVE

Total of $4,500 is Secured - $2,000 Expected by Campaign End Tomorrow.

The boys' team in the Boy Scout fund drive was high today with a report of $4,500. The team is expected to reach a total of $5,000 by the end of the campaign tomorrow and a total of $5,000 is expected.

The Y. M. C. A. team, captained by A. D. Hermann, reported a total of $2,000 yesterday noon at the luncheon of the workers in the Boy Scout drive. The team, led by Sam Ryerson, held second place and the Kiwanis club, led by A. J. Riess, third. A total of $2,000 has been reported to date and the report turned in by workers today, together with that of the executive committee, is expected to bring a total of $5,000. A large number of workers are turning out and are enthusiastic over the luncheon served and the business like way in which reports are made and the shortness of time required. All luncheons have ended by 1 o'clock, as promised by those who head the campaign. Workers are hopeful of reaching the amount they are after and are putting forth every effort these last two days of the campaign. People in the city who are interested in the Boy Scout movement are asked to give their bit for the boys of the city when they are asked to subscribe. If every person would give something the total amount desired would easily be reached.

Troop no. 9 met last evening and made plans for a father and son banquet the second Friday in November, and also planned to give a play called "A Day in Camp," the last Thursday and Friday in November. A new troop committee was formed, composed of C. Maynard, Rev. Mr. Vance and Bert Metcalf.

PARROT FOUND ON UNCLE SAMUEL'S POSTOFFICE LAWN

A young business girl on her way to work early this morning discovered on the lawn of the postoffice, sixteenth street and Second avenue, a tiny, quivering green parrot. She brokefasted it royally out of her lunch box and left it in safety at Tack's flower shop before continuing to her place of work.

GALLI-CURCI WILL OPEN AUDITORIUM

Announcement of the booking of Galli-Curci in Newark Nov. 6 declares that the concert will "stand in the nature of a formal opening of the auditorium." The arena seats more than three thousand people, and it will doubtless be crowded on the 5th of November, the announcement saying that the famous diva has never before been nearer to Trenton than Philadelphia. Quoting further, one finds a tribute to Mary Lindsay Oliver, formerly of Moline.

"It is owing to the enterprise of A. K. Bugbee, builder of the auditorium; M. Hirschfeld, the lessee, and Mary Lindsay Oliver, a member of the National Concert Managers' association, who is well known in the musical world for her activity as artist, teacher, conductor, critic and concert manager, that this rare engagement has been effected."

LEAD GUESTS IN SPOOKY HALLOWEEN TRAIL AT PARTY

Beginning with the spooky hollow trail clear through to the refreshments there will be a typical Halloween celebration for adults at the Rock Island Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening, Oct. 23. Arrangements for the affair have been made by the social committee of the association.

Each adult—no mask necessary—will be taken through the spooky hollow trail on entering the Y. which will lead to the basement social rooms of the building. Here Halloween pranks of various sorts will be played, and the grand march of the gym will follow, leading the guests to an ox dance. Halloween games and stunts will be carried on in the gym, after which a program of readings and music will be held.

ATTORNEYS FOR STATE BLAMED

Federal Judge Scores Officials for Failure to Cooperate With "Dry" Law Agents.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 21.—Federal Judge L. Fitzhenry, at the opening of the federal district court here today took a rap at state attorneys and city police for failure to cooperate with "dry" law agents.

"The state search and seizure act has more teeth in it than the Volstead act. Most of the cases that come into this court should have been tried in justice, police and county courts," he said.

More than two hundred cases of violation of the Volstead act are being considered by the October federal grand jury now in session here.

Personal Points

Lieutenant Hubbard E. Dooley, who since he was commissioned in 1917, has been serving on General George E. Bell's staff at Camp Grant, is visiting in Rock Island for a few days. He is accompanied by his bride, the daughter of J. R. Taylor of Rockford. Lieutenant Dooley leaves tomorrow for Camp Benning, Ga., where he will enroll for an eight-months' basic course for infantry officers. Mrs. Dooley will remain in this city.

TELLS WHY U.S. DECLARED WAR

Countess Di Cellere Claims America's Stand Against Austria Was Due to Her.

Rome, Oct. 21.—The Countess Macchi di Cellere, widow of Count V. Macchi di Cellere, former Italian ambassador to the United States, is publishing a book concerning her husband's work in Washington. The countess says the ambassador wrote to Tommaso Tittoni, then Italian foreign minister:

"America's declaration of war to Austria is due to me," and adds that the success that the countess attained was all the more notable because Austria had avoided any friction with America, which had a marked appreciation of Austria, while it knew and understood Italy little.

The countess affirms that the ambassador obtained the first loan made by the American treasury to the allies, that given to Italy, and says:

"And Italy might also have had American troops, which Ambassador Page (Thomas Nelson Page, former American ambassador to Italy) was the first to offer."

The book contains an interesting diary of the Paris peace conference which Count di Cellere wrote daily without knowing it would be printed, reading constant homage to what he termed the coherent and straightforward policy of Baron Sidney Sonnino of the Italian peace delegation.

The countess recalls the evening of Oct. 20, 1919, when, although ill, the count dictated to her a telegram for Signor Tittoni, who was then in Paris, striving to obtain a solution of the Fiume question acceptable to Italy, that is territorial contiguity between Fiume and the mother country.

Signor Tittoni had entrusted Count di Cellere with the task of overcoming President Wilson's reluctance to such a solution, the countess declared, adding that the count worked indefatigably to attain his object in several conversations with the then American secretary of state, Robert Lansing, who was always the enlightened and faithful friend of Italy.

REAL INDIAN CORN IS ON DISPLAY AT E. O. VAILE'S SHOP

Real Indian corn of the black, red, white and blue varieties is on display in the window of the Vaile Stationery Shop, 1714 Third avenue. The corn was presented by some Indians who had raised the crop to Mrs. T. Stafford, 1808 Seventh avenue, when she drove by the Indian reservation three years ago.

The corn was raised by the Greenwood Indian agency near Wagner, S. D. It grows in the various shades, the black, blue, red and white, and a mixture of black and white being on display in the Vaile window, together with corn and stalks raised in this vicinity.

Mrs. Stafford plans on putting the corn on exhibit at one of the school displays soon.

Miss Entrikin Is Tea Room Manager

Miss Mary E. Entrikin's large circle of Rock Island friends will be much interested in knowing that she is successfully managing the large tea room in the Black store in Waterloo. This tea room, which had its formal opening last week and which is one of the most attractive and largest in this section of the country, was equipped at a cost of $50,000. Miss Entrikin's position as its manager is a splendid one of responsibility. A corps of 25 workers are her assistants. She was formerly a teacher in the public schools, having taught for some twenty years. For eight of these she was principal of the Eugene Field school.

High School Notes

The Watch Tower, the bi-monthly paper of the Rock Island high school, will be issued Friday.

The debating team of the school will present a program at the general assembly tomorrow.

Several teachers plan attending the Illinois high school conference to be held at the University of Illinois Thursday, Nov. 18.

A dramatic club for boys and girls is being organized at the school. The organization will be limited to those who have had one year of public speaking.

Arrangements are being completed for the junior-senior Halloween party to be held at the high school Saturday, Oct. 30.

Twenty-five boys of the vocational civics class of the high school were shown through the Argus business, editorial, composing and press departments yesterday afternoon. Miss Gertrude Browne, class instructor, escorted the boys. The boys make trips through the various business and industrial plants in the three cities.
